

Welsh Asian Heritage Project:

Celebrating and Archiving the Experiences of Ugandan Asians

The Welsh Asian Heritage Project will work with all local communities to tell the stories of Ugandan Asians whose home is in Wales. We want to celebrate the journey from expulsion to resilience and create an archive for the present and future generation that includes records of places of cultural, religious, and historical significance and how these have changed the landscape of Wales.

We are looking for people who want to tell their stories; volunteers to collaborate with us on all aspects of the project and individuals who will guide and co-create the project with us. We also welcome partnership work with organisations from all sectors. Contact us for a chat to know more about how you can get involved:

Email: wahproject@rcahmw.gov.uk

Telephone: 01970 621234 and speak to Perminder Dhillon, Project leader.

Conversations in Panjabi, Urdu, Hindi, and Gujarati welcome.

The project launch (online) is on Thursday 5th October 2023 at 5.00pm with talks, expert guests, and interviews.
